Professional Experience

Larry Lundquist started his construction career finishing concrete and gained a thorough knowledge of the construction process by working in a variety of positions both on the jobsite and in the office. Larry founded Lund-Ross Constructors in February 1987, and his high standards established Lund-Ross as a trusted general contractor. After 28 successful years in business, Larry remains involved in every project, from budget estimating to project finishes. Under Larry's leadership, Lund-Ross has earned numerous regional and national awards for excellence in construction and safety.
